Dear,

The Anti-Ageing Conference London (AACL) will be held at the Kensington Town Hall on September 10th-11th, 2004.

The main objective of the conference is to provide an opportunity to update delegates with the latest advances in scientific research, biomedical technology, academic and clinical knowledge, as well as facilitating networking with other members of the preventative healthcare community worldwide.

The main sponsor of the conference is HB Health, internationally known for its innovative approach to preventative healthcare and implementation of anti-ageing therapeutics.

There is already significant interest in this forthcoming event. The conference is attracting leading experts in the field of anti-ageing medicine and preventative healthcare, with Dr. Robert Goldman, Chairman of American Academy of Anti-Aging as the keynote speaker

We propose a mutual exchange of link banners between your company's website and the conference website. This will provide your company with an introduction to an exclusive gathering of medical professionals and create exposure with leading scientific conferences, international doctors, scientists and potential clients, while improving exposure to the AACL which is a non-profit event intended to further 21st century medicine.

The conference website will attract those who are searching for anti-ageing, preventative medicine and advanced medical products and protocols that include; drugs, hormones, nutritional supplements, cosmeceuticals, clinical equipment, office-based tests, laboratory services, information and consultancy services.

If you feel your company would benefit from a link banner exchange with our conference giving you the opportunity to gain new exposure with established practitioners and anti-ageing enthusiasts, please contact us.

If you have any additional questions please do not hesitate to contact me by phone or email.

Sincerely,
Dr. Zulya Maizetova
Conference Manager
